Programming Languages : Python: About 3 years ago I realized watched the movie "Swordfish" and realized I want to work with computers all day. I taught myself how to code in python by doing challenges for 55 days straight and then some.

: C++: While this language is newer to me and it is much harder to me than python, I figured id learn it to get the concepts of low level stuff like memory management.

: C#: I learned this because I wanted to become a IOS developer, so I wanted to learn C# to use with Xamarin to make cross platform apps.

: Basic knowledge of C, JS, R [Edabit]: https://github.com/searsam1/theEdabitProject
